Threat to Future of Steel Cited By Laclede

Akin Tells Unions of Unequal Competition By Foreign Producers

"Kennedy round" tariff reduction were assessed Friday night by Paul B. Akin, Laclede Steel Co. president, as exporting steelworkers' jobs, curbing present production in the U. S. and threatening the future existence of domestic steel firms.

"I wonder how long unemployed consumers will consume," the official said in addressing a dinner gathering of union officers and shop stewards of United Steelworkers Local 1785 of the Madison plant and Local 3643 of the Alton plant. He asked that employees contact Congress and the U. S. Senate to oppose inequities that are enabling foreign firms to take over much of the U. S. steel market.

The meeting at the Lewis and Clark restaurant included a film on Japanese steel production and a question-and-answer period in which Laclede Steel operations, policies and goals were explained in detail.

Buddy Davis, a union business agent at Alton, spoke briefly. Akin commented that Laclede Steel earnings are "well below the industry average, but we are coming up."

"We are doing everything possible to make sure that we will be able to retain our local markets. Our first step has been to get a low-cost source of inputs, accomplished with the installation of our electric melt shop."

"A continuous-casting machine will be in operation this year and will enable us to convert the steel from the melt shop efficiently into a simple supply of billets. A new merchant mill with low operating costs is on order; this press-time machine will produce a large volume of high-quality products."

"National Suicide"
Regarding his principal topic of "America's Greatest Export Product—Jobs," Akin said, "In recent months I have become increasingly aware of an action called about an economic course of action that appears to be national suicide should it continue long at its present pace," Akin said.

"Our government and a great many people in this country are working together to export the jobs of American workers. Many American jobs have been and are being lost because of our government's actions, and no effective protest has yet been raised by voters."

In 1944, world steel production was 155 million tons annually. During world war II, many steel plants were destroyed, and production fell to 100 million tons.

CAMP GRANITE IN VIETNAM. Col. Roy L. Kackley Jr., right, commanding officer of the Qui Nhon Sub-Area Command, Vietnam, reads a proclamation designating the 1st Logistical Command sub-area headquarters as Camp Granite, effective tomorrow, coinciding with the 25th anniversary of the Granite City Army Depot.

Daniels Jr., husband of Mrs. Jean Daniels, Fairway Estates, Rural Route One, holding a Depot 25-year emblem; Robert L. Sikes, husband of Mrs. Mary Sikes, 2319 Emerit street, a Department of the Army civilian in charge of property disposal at the Depot; Sfc. Merle J. Ankers, Florissant, Mo.; Sfc. Allen E. Walsh, Belleville; and Sfc. Chester L. Davis, husband of Mrs. Joyce Davis, Granite City Depot. Ordnance records indicate that the 920-pound cannon actually was fired during the Civil War.

Court Order Closes Dump on Highway 111

A temporary injunction was issued Friday by Circuit Judge Joseph J. Barr restraining Frank L. Baker from operating a dump off Highway 111 south of Roxana.

The suit, filed by Jack Clifford, county zoning administrator, was not contested. Clifford said that it was the eighth dump to be closed since a Madison county landfill ordinance went into effect on June 1. Dumps operated by the cities of St. Jacob and Bethalto were closed by the state. Allen closed its dump voluntarily, and five others were closed by the county.

The official said four more landfill operators were to appear at the courthouse in Edwardsville this afternoon to determine if they can comply with the county's landfill ordinance.

Clifford announced that county landfill problems will be considered at a meeting of the steering committee of the Madison county board of supervisors and its sanitation committee at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 9 at the county house.

Further discussions, and possible action, are expected at the next county board meeting on Aug. 16.

Council Approves $2,271,723 Budget

Mayor Partney Likely To Trim Total Through Special Projects Veto

The Granite City council quickly adopted an overall 1967-68 budget totaling $2,271,723 Saturday morning in an action closing making about two months of study and discussion. It was $26,310 above the $2,245,413 budget for 1966-67.

No efforts were made by residents to insert additional special projects or to change proposals which were placed on first reading last Monday night.

The council had until tonight to adopt the budget. After that deadline, a city appropriations could be made only through petitions requiring signatures of a majority of residents who voted at the last mayoralty election.

Mayor Partney is expected to trim the total through special projects veto.

Metcalfe, Stucke Named to School Board Positions

Donald W. Stucke, New School Director

Arthur L. Metcalfe, Jr., High Principal

Raymond Tom Jones, assistant principal of Prather high school, was named Saturday afternoon as the new principal of Coolidge Junior High School.

He replaces Frank Kraus, who has become assistant to Super. Bob J. Davis.

Replacing Owen Humphrey, retiring named as curriculum coordinator of the Granite City school district, is Maryville grade school principal will be John Metcalfe, currently principal of McKinley grade school.

His replacement as McKinley principal will be Edward Gowa, sixth science teacher at Granite City high school.

The school board created a third position of GCCHS assistant principal and approved Gilbert Wainwright for the post. He is a vocational guidance counselor at the school.

Buy Norwood Area Site
In other business, the board bought a grade school site on a 2.9-acre site on the west side of Old Alton road north of West Ponton road in the Norwood area. The tract is about 50 yards from the city limits.

Over 1000 feet deep with a frontage of 450 feet, the site was bought for $23,780 from Irvin Schaefer after the district earlier obtained an option to buy at $3000 an acre.

With only 10 acres initially sought, it was decided to buy 10.91 acres at the $3000 rate and Schaefer contributed the remaining acre.

The administrative posts filled Saturday were based on recommendations by Super. Davis.

2-2 Vote on Dumont
Earlier in the meeting, he had proposed a similar list but with James Dumont, assistant to Coolidge principal, recommended as the new principal at Coolidge.

This failed on a 2-2 vote, with George Moore Sr. and Dr. E. W. Johnson voting to accept the recommendation and President Monroe Worthen and Carl Macias opposed.

Super. Davis, who had previously indicated that he considered both Dumont and Jones to be qualified for the post, recommended Jones after the vote.

This was approved, 4-0. A replacement for Jones at Prather was named later.

Board members said the 2-2 vote was not a reflection on any individuals. All four said they were weighing the total effect on the district, including present needs at Coolidge and Prather, plus future needs at various schools.

YMCA, School Positions
Jones, a teacher and then acting principal of Frohberg grade school before becoming Prather assistant principal two years ago, resides at 3115 Ash avenue with his wife and their three children.

He formerly served as teenage and adult program director of the Granite City YMCA and is a member of the Granite City Y.

Assistant Postmaster, Tool Designer to Serve Until Election in 1968

The Granite City school board filled two board vacancies by appointment Saturday afternoon. Those named were Arthur L. "Pat" Metcalfe, 58, of 2715 Oakwood street, assistant Granite City postmaster, and Donald W. Stucke, 44, of 1613 Clark avenue, a tool designer at the Carter Carburetor Co., St. Louis.

Both will serve from the Aug. 14 board meeting until the next school board election in April 1968.

Stucke replaces William L. Harris, who resigned July 10. This urban position will be up for a regular three-year term at the next election.

Metcalfe replaces Ronald Dilard, who resigned June 30. To stay on the board after next April, he would need to seek an urban one-year unexpired term and then a three-year term in April 1969.

The board earlier interviewed seven persons interested in being appointed to the board. Three others were unable to appear for interviews, one of them sending in a biographical resume. Board members estimated that they considered a total of 20 names.

Board members present Saturday were President Monroe Worthen, Secretary E. W. Watson, Treasurer George Moore Sr. and Carl Macias.

Because Joyce Timmons is out-of-town on vacation, the actual election at Stucke and Metcalfe were made before Timmons' departure, it was noted.

Worthen said all five concurred in the selections, based on an effort to take into account all qualifications and on a desire to appoint "members who we can work with and who can work with us."

Ruling of No Conflict
Before appointing Stucke, the board obtained a ruling from County School Super. Wilbur Trimpe that there is no conflict of interest if a former school board member is appointed to a position of school board member.

Metcalfe ran for the school board in 1954. Assistant postmaster for the past four years, he previously was superintendent of mails 17 years. He has been with the Granite City post office 31 years.

A Granite City resident 56 years, he attended local schools and is a member of the Moose, Eagles and Mexican Honorary Comrades. He has served as president of the Twilight Optimist club.

Metcalfe is married and has three daughters and seven grandchildren.

Democratic Candidate
Stucke, a native of Mitchell and lifelong local resident, is Democratic committeeman of Precinct 11 and was a write-in candidate for Eighth Ward alderman this spring after his and another name were ruled off the ballot in a court controversy.

A graduate of Granite City high school, where he took vocational courses, Stucke is a member of Amvets Post 204. He is

Peace Corps Service is Called Rewarding

By ANDREW WILSON

In case the reader has any doubts about the Peace Corps being a full-fledged branch of our country's foreign service in terms of tact and diplomacy, he may wish to try planning down a Peace Corps representative about the exotic or backward country to which he was assigned.

Try getting him to give the "inside story" on some of the problems confronting his place of service.

After all, you might say, it can't all have been good. The country must have some problems, maybe even a bit of unrest and disorder, or why call on the Peace Corps?

I tried this approach with Betty Lavelle, a pert and pretty graduate of Granite City high school who has just returned from two years with the Peace Corps in Barbados, pronounced "bar-BAY-dohs." I got absolutely nowhere in developing evidence of adverse conditions.

"This is not for the paper," she would say before going into anything which by any stretch of the imagination might be construed as criticism of Barbados.

Much can be written about what Miss Lavelle said about the beautiful weather in Barbados, but not about the less beautiful aspects of its social and political climate. Neither can we hear about her adventures, "Some where between 20 and 40," she demurred. She is, it can be safely said, diplomatic.

Barbados is the easternmost island in the West Indies.

PEACE CORPS RETURNEE Miss Betty Lavelle, shown being interviewed regarding her two-year stay on the island of Barbados by Andrew Wilson of the Press-Record news staff.

It is one of the most densely populated islands in the world, supporting approximately 207,000 people on its 166 square miles. Much of the island's fertile surface is covered with sugar cane, the climate is sunny and mild, and the beaches, she reports, are "the best in the world."

Felix W. Crowe, 72, Dies of Heart Attack

Felix W. Crowe, 72, of 2438 rear Lincoln avenue, suffered a fatal heart attack early Thursday afternoon at his home. He was found about 5:30 p.m. that day by Nola Mae Henney, owner of adjacent property, who notified his son, Donald W. Crowe, 2125 Washington avenue.

Mr. Crowe was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Coroner Leonard R. Davis, who set the approximate time of death at two and three hours earlier. An inquest is pending.

Mr. Crowe had resided alone at the Lincoln avenue address for the past two years. Previously, he lived on Forest avenue for nearly eight years.

He was born in Whitesville, Ky., and was a member of the Baptist Church. Prior to retirement, he was employed as a taxi cab driver at Lambert Airport.

Besides his son, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Crowe, Florida; one brother, Harvey Crowe of Edwardsville; and one grandchild.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. today at a Granite City funeral home. Details are given elsewhere in this issue.

Troop 144 Scouts

About 25 members of recently organized Boy Scout Troop 144 of Eagle Park Acres departed Saturday morning for a one-week stay at Camp Sunken near Potosi, Mo.

The camping trip is part of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission's summer youth recreation program.

New Park Budget Includes Funds to Open Ice Skating Rink

The new Granite City park district budget adopted last week includes all cost items necessary to complete and equip the ice skating rink without incurring additional bonds. Randall Robertson, park district attorney, pointed out today.

In addition to specific ice rink expenditures totaling $23,510 for salaries, utilities, insurance and other general operational items, the sum of $11,000 is included in the appropriation for purchase of an ice surface cleaning machine. The cost of this device represented approximately one-third of the additional amount needed for rink completion.

Funds for other phases of rink construction and equipping are included in other budget items. For example, the original appropriation for park roads, walks and trails was set tentatively at $4000, but when park officials decided to include the needed rink expenses in the new appropriation rather than issue more bonds, this item was raised to $9000 to provide $1000 for walkway construction at the skating rink.

Another $1000 for the same purpose was picked up by increasing the proposed appropriation for road, walk and trail repair from $1500 to $2500.

Budget Items Raised
An increase from $800 to $2000 in the equipment maintenance account provided an additional $1200 and the supply account of the department of parks was raised from $9000 to $10,900, providing another $2000 for purchase of wind panels, game inserts, taped music and similar ice rink items.

Robertson said that by including ice rink costs in the new budget, the park district effected a saving of approximately $28,000 in interest costs that would have been paid out over a ten-year amortization period if the ice rink financial needs had been met by bond sales.

The board approved a new budget of $382,489, an increase of $38,839 over last year's appropriation of $343,650. Bulk of the increase is in the general fund's department of parks, which was set at $154,994, up $23,651 over last year's $131,343.

A new budget figure of $39,343 for operation of concession stands is up $13,975 over last year's $25,368, and the regular ice rink operational fund of $22,510 is up $10,245 over the 1966-67 budget figure of $12,265.

General Fund Increase
Total administration costs, also included in the general corporate fund, are fixed at $28,840, increased only $220 over the $28,620 last year, while operation of the swimming pool is budgeted at $17,222, an increase of only $75 over last year's $17,147.

These increases brought to $264,209 the total budget for general fund items, up $56,276 over the $207,933 total for the same departments last year.

While this increase is considerably higher than the rise in the overall budget figure, it was partly offset by a $24,999 reduction in that amount in the appropriation for payment of bonds and interest.

This year's appropriation for bond and interest payments amounts to $90,787. Last year's figure was $85,686.

Recreation Program
In the recreation fund, the appropriation for neighborhood playground operation is $21,050, down $2000 from $23,100 last year. Proposed expenditures for Wilson Park playgrounds are budgeted at $11,702, up $2392 over last year's $9,310.

Operational costs for the Lincoln Place Community Center are set at $16,390, up $720 from $15,670. These items resulted in a total recreational fund budget of $50,132, compared to $49,160 last year.

Other budget figures include Illinois Municipal Retirement, $2200, up $1700 from $500; liability insurance, $4000, up $1800 from $2200; and the bond and interest fund, $90,787, down $24,999 from last year's $115,786.

The budget embodies salary increases of up to $25 per month in most departments. These include the park superintendent, who is raised to $9500 per year, and the district secretary, $2800. The district treasurer was raised $200 to $1400 per year.

Adjustment in Emergency Room Policies Here

St. Elizabeth Hospital's governing board and the executive committee of the advisory board met last week in a joint session to discuss emergency service at the hospital, it was announced today.

Procedures and cost factors were reviewed in detail, and the fee schedule was adjusted.

The emergency room services have been under consideration by the medical staff for the past several weeks, Dr. Robert Hill, chief of staff, and spokesman for the group, said, "The Emergency Room Committee has previously studied the characteristics of the patients coming through the emergency room during the past six months and discovered that 69% were not actually emergency patients."

Dr. Hill emphasized the difference between an emergency room such as at the local hospital and a non-emergency clinic.

Duties Outlined by Law
"An emergency room," he said, "is required by law to provide immediate lifesaving treatment to the acutely ill or injured, whereas a non-emergency clinic provides the type of service found in a doctor's office. The hospital here does not operate such a clinic."

Dr. Hill noted that emergency equipment and highly skilled personnel are required in providing emergency service, and thus it costs more to provide than clinic care.

Non-emergency patients that come to the emergency room instead of a doctor's office must necessarily pay a share of this higher cost, it was pointed out.

The doctors recommended that all patients contact their family doctor before coming to the hospital's emergency room except in cases of true emergency. Patients who do not have a family physician should see their family physician in their offices whenever possible.

House Physician Provided
Sister Mary Thomas, administrator, explained that the hospital now provides emergency room coverage by a house physician from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. daily on weekdays, and 24-hour coverage on weekends and holidays. The only cause for interruption of this service would be unforeseen staffing difficulties, she said.

Of the nation's hospitals, 80% are covered in their emergency room by the rotation of staff physicians on call, she said, and the St. Elizabeth Hospital also depended on in the past.

In downstate Illinois, the percentage is even higher. "We are indeed fortunate to be now numbered among the small percentage who have been able to attract physicians to their hospitals for resident coverage," a hospital official remarked.

Dr. F. B. Diones, chairman of the Emergency Room Committee, commented that patients will continue to be seen in the emergency room by their personal physician, unless he refers them to the house physician, or when immediate lifesaving attention is indicated.

If the patient is seen by the house physician, a physician of $9 plus a basic emergency room fee of $8.50 will be made. Additional charges will be made, as in the past, for x-rays, lab tests, drugs, casts, etc.

MORE ABOUT

Threat to

World steel production dropped to 122 million tons for 1966. The Japanese industry produced just over 500,000 tons that year—less than Laclede Steel's operations in some years.

The United States rightly came to the aid of these countries through the Marshall Plan and other helpful programs. It was through this assistance that the Schuman Plan developed into the European Coal and Steel Community and into what we now know as the common market.

Gifts Fall to End

World steel production was soon back to prewar levels, and one might have thought that the U. S. would then reduce its gifts to the foreign industry.

In 1940 there were 23 steel-producing nations in the world. By 1965, largely through our never-ending help, the number had grown to 70 and world steel production had reached 500 million tons. I recently read of a $300 million mill that was built in Turkey in 1964; $120.6 million was put up by a U. S. government agency.

As many of these new steel-producing nations had capacity in excess of their needs, they became steel exporters instead of importers. Hence, the new mills with excess capacity and the mills that had formerly supplied them both needed markets for their steel.

Add-On Charges

Most nations know that it is bad taste to have high tariffs. They also know that they want to protect their own industries, so they pile border taxes, surcharges, and a wide variety of cost-of-entry expenses on top of their "modest" tariffs.

As the U. S. has a low import tariff and effectively no ad valorem, and as steel prices are higher in the U. S. than anywhere else in the world, the U. S. market became a prime target.

In the last ten years, as fast as new equipment came on-line, an obvious realignment of markets took place.

"When we consider that world steel production increased about 200 million tons from 1955 to 1965, and that the American industry only lost 12 million tons through exports and imports, we can see that our industry has been putting up a good fight to retain its markets.

Imports Up Sharply

"We have just received word that imports for the first five months of 1967 have increased 35% over 1966.

"In the last few days, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, National, Inland and Crucible have reported first-half earnings. The earnings of all of these companies are down over 50% from last year. We are losing the American market more quickly now, although the fight is not a new one."

Assailing spending by the agency for international development to establish steel plants and pulp and paper mills, chemical plants, rubber plants, aluminum plants and petrochemical facilities around the world, the speaker said $2 billion has been spent to build or expand 179 foreign steel plants.

Akin commented, "The important thing about this, aside from the fact that Uncle Sam paid for it, is that it was spanking-new modern equipment. "New equipment requires fewer operators, less maintenance, and produces more tons per hour of a better product."

"The reduced manning required by the equipment abroad gave the foreigners an especially great economic advantage over most of the steel mills in this country."

Fewer Workers, Lower Pay
"Not only do overseas plants need fewer workers, but those workers receive only a fraction of the pay received by their American counterparts."

Akin disagreed with recent Wall Street Journal comments that American steel firms could regain domestic and foreign markets by price-cutting. Currently, paying its workers five times as much as foreign steelworkers, U. S. industry even by eliminating all its profits could not outdo the foreign producers, he said.

The same unfavorable relationship exists between any domestic and foreign manufactured product that requires much labor.

"I have heard the 'we'll-beat-them-with-our-technology' myth for years. I classify the reasoning here in the 'If-a-frog-had-wings-he-could-fly' department, as it fails to recognize the fact that we are exporting our technical knowledge daily to anyone who would care to buy it."

"Consider the Turkish mill mentioned earlier. It was built in 1964 and is now being enlarged from 470,000 metric tons per year to 900,000 tons. AID announced this week that it had loaned the same company an additional $22.4 million."

"Aside from our government's interest in this mill three of the largest equipment builders in the U. S. — Koppers, Westinghouse Electric, and Blaw-Knox own 25% of the mill."

"These three companies have a vested interest in seeing that the Turkish mill has the best equipment available in the world today. After all, technical knowledge is as much a millbuilder's product as equipment."

Profit by Experience
"The largest bloom and billet continuous-casting machine in the world is being installed at Laclede's Allen plant. What Koppers learns in designing this machine will be used, improved upon, and available to anyone in the world who will pay the price for the next machine."

Westinghouse designed the largest electric-arc furnace transformers in the world for our Allen plant. With the knowledge they gained, I am sure larger and more efficient ones will also be available to the next bidder.

The Turkish mill has been installed for less than we could install it. The operators receive far less than we pay our workers. If the steel is sold in the U. S. they will get the same amount of money for the product that we do.

"With lower debt, lower wages, but the same selling price, that mill will be paid for long before ours will, and they will be ready for the next step forward."

"Already we are at a competitive disadvantage in most manufactured products. Our share of the world exports of manufactured products has shrunk 20% since 1958. Should machinery be removed from the list, the shrinkage would be worse, since exports of machinery have risen at a lively pace as a result of our flood of foreign investment in plants and equipment. New branch plants abroad are largely equipped with American machinery — at least for now."

NUN FROM GERMANY at St. Elizabeth Hospital is Sister M. Narcissa (right), pictured with Sister M. Jerome of the local hospital staff. Sister M. Narcissa in September will go to Korea to do missionary work.

Sister from Germany Studying at Hospital

Sister M. Narcissa of Mainz, Germany, is spending some time at St. Elizabeth Hospital in order to learn American nursing techniques and something about U. S. hospitals. She is currently observing activities in the Obstetrics Department, under the leadership of Sister M. Jerome.

Sister M. Narcissa is a member of the German Province of the Sisters of the Divine Providence. She has studied nursing in Rome, Italy, and is a registered nurse.

She arrived in this country in December 1966, and came to Granite City from Pittsburgh, Pa. She plans to leave the U. S. in September for Korea, where she will do missionary work.

only with protecting the jobs of our American workers from the low-wage produced competitive imports from overseas, but we must create new jobs for an ever-increasing number of new entrants into the labor force each year."

"When it comes to opening the value of free trade, with our standard of living high, and the other low, an open valve is certainly not going to raise our standard of living; but I have yet to hear any freetrader from the State Department, Senate or Congress suggest to workers in this country a lower standard of living."

Jobless Figure Deceptive
"The fact that unemployment in this country is now between 3% and 4% makes the problem of exported jobs seem absolutely insignificant."

"On its face, it would appear that domestic employment may not have suffered greatly because of the deterioration of our trade position in 10 major groups of finished manufactures."

"However, whatever chain reaction there is in the loss of jobs here as a result of competitive imports in these and other categories is perhaps more than offset by the use of manpower to produce the materials necessary to service the war in Vietnam," Akin said.

"Servicing the war in Vietnam will not always be such an offsetting force of employment here."

"We must be concerned not veto some special projects in the budget. He said further study will be required before he can list specific projects to be cut.

Sixth Ward Alderman Parnley said he thinks the mayor may make a total reduction of from $60,000 to $70,000. Parnley added that no special projects pertaining to the Sixth Ward were included in the budget.

10-4 Vote to Adopt

Aldermen Whitmer, Rutledge, Norn and Fry voted against adoption as 14 members of the council attended the special session. Alderman Bartosiak, who was at work, and Alderman Jarrett were absent.

The council took action on the budget after Norn attempted to re-introduce the city sales and service tax issue. He was immediately ruled out of order.

The tax was passed by the council last Monday night, partly due to the incorrect belief that a five-cent-a-dollar tax would be collected regardless of what action the council took.

Appropriations approved included, with the previous year's figure given in parentheses: General administration, $128,451 ($106,488); water hydrant rental, $18,000 ($20,000); street and alley lights, $34,000 ($36,000); parking meters, $40,500 ($37,100); interest and judgment, $65,000 ($35,000); police department, $344,257 ($338,172).

FOOD FLAVOR LESSON

OF ISABEL BEVIER UNIT

"Flavor, a Key to Good Food" was the topic of the major lesson of the Isabel Bevier unit, Madison County Extension Association, Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Helen Cuvor, chairman, 4600 Maryville road.

Mrs. Fran Cuvor and Mrs. Angie Brown presented the lesson and prepared three sauces made from the same basic recipe, with spices added to give each a different flavor.

A taste test of the sauces was made by each member attending. Mrs. Cuvor in presenting the lesson said flavor is defined by the senses that perceive it—taste, smell and touch. The demonstration and discussion were in fast odor, texture, appearance and appearance and temperature as related to the palatability of food.

Other helpful hints mentioned were a guide to flavorful foods, guide to herbs, commercial and homemade sauces, and a list of recipes to be tried.

Mrs. Helen Cuvor, chairman, presided during the business session, with reports given by Mrs. Lucille Lipe and Mrs. Lillian Adams.

Mrs. Angie Brown gave the selected subject, "Coin Operated Dry Cleaning," stressing the proper method of cleaning clothes for the homemaker on a do-it-yourself basis.

The health lesson dealt with several subjects of interest during the summer, such as "Cuts and Scratches," "Paper Clothing," and "Tear Gas Guns," given by Mrs. Fran Cuvor.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce was read requesting members of organizations to attend meetings of the school board, park board and city council to be better informed of work being done for the community and to take an active part in community affairs.

Mrs. Maxine Duniphan and Mrs. Lucille Lipe will participate in the Institute For Family Living on beginning sewing in Alton during September and October.

Since August in the vacation month, with no regular meetings planned, a family picnic will be held at Wilson Park at 5 p.m. Aug. 24 at Shelter Five. Final plans were completed for members to attend a showing of "The King and I" at the St. Louis Opera Aug. 29.

Mrs. Cuvor appointed Mrs. Ted Waller to serve as legislation chairman for the remainder of the year.

Mrs. Irene Dawes and Mrs. Donna Hogan will attend an all-day session on refueling furniture set in 19 Edwardsville.

They provide much greater security and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience. But to get one of these jobs you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1942. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

Eliminate issuance of revenue bonds for industrial redevelopment. Authorize cities, counties, airport authorities and port districts to acquire buildings and sites and lease them to firms.

Permit school boards to hire non-teaching personnel or to use volunteers personnel for teaching duties or to assist in instruction of pupils under immediate supervision of a teacher. Eliminate teacher institutes and substitute in-service training workshops.

Theodore Macios Heads Clean Air Advisory Group

A decision to create an Engineering Advisory Committee to oversee general administration and development of Granite City's air pollution control program has been announced by Henry Bieniecki, chairman of the city's Air Pollution Control Board.

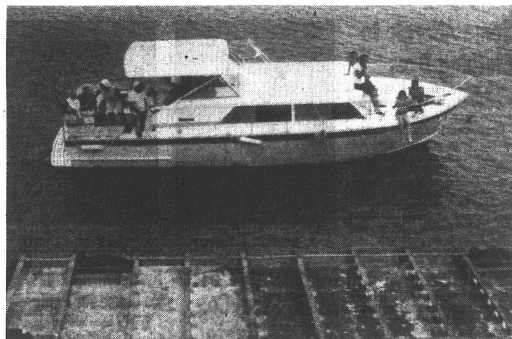

Bieniecki named Theodore Macios, a member of the control board and an industrial air pollution engineer, as chairman of the committee, and said most of the other members of the committee will be engineers from local industries.

Bieniecki also announced that a subcommittee of the Granite City control board will recommend to the board that it set up a system of requiring "letters of intent" from local industrial firms on their present volume of pollution emissions. The proposed system would be modeled after that now being used by the state of Illinois.

New Committee Functions
Functions of the new Engineering Advisory Committee, the board chairman said, will include:

1. To assist the board and its technical secretary in evaluation of emission reduction programs.
2. To advise the board on recent developments in methods and equipment for air pollution control.
3. To propose and evaluate air pollution research programs as required in the ordinance.
4. To develop programs and procedures for dealing with emergency situations affecting the local area.

Bieniecki said the new Granite City pollution control regulations became effective July 23, ten days after publication of amendments approved July 3 by the city council.

BEGINNING AND END
of long voyage for a new 32-foot cabin cruiser, "Swaby," purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey F. Beaver, 1621 Courtenay Blvd., in Louisville, Ky. They left there last Monday and arrive precisely on schedule at 4 p.m. Friday at the Granite City harbor, where they can be seen in the top picture near a moored barge.

The lower scene shows the vessel about to be launched in Kentucky. The 600-mile voyage was enjoyable, and the only mishap was striking a log that bent a drive shaft, making it necessary to not use one of the two in-board engines.

Accompanied on the river trip by Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt and children, Billy, 12, Sherrill, 10, and Lance, seven, the Beavers were met here by a large Bow Line boat club delegation before docking Friday evening at the Alton boat club. Beaver is a charter member and past president of the Bow Line group.

UE Talks Resumed in Bid to Settle Strike

Contract talks arranged by federal mediators were resumed this morning in St. Louis between officials of Union Electric Co. and striking Local 1465 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Meanwhile a tentative agreement was reached Friday between the company and Local 1430, 649 and 309 of IBEW. Members of these locals including about 1500 Union Electric employees have not been on strike, but are not crossing picket lines set up by Local 1465.

The striking Local is made up of approximately 1100 office workers who walked off their jobs July 14. Their contract expired June 30, as did the contracts of the three other unions. The tentative contract agreed upon by the three non-striking locals, made up of linemen and outside workers, will be submitted to the membership for ratification, but no date for the meeting had been announced this morning.

Price Praises Depot, Sees Increase in Its Contracts

"It is a pleasure to join in the observance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Granite City Army Depot," Cong. Melvin Price said in a statement to the Press-Record today.

"I hope these brief remarks will adequately convey the importance placed on this installation in our Defense structure and in our area."

"My comments, of course, reflect in part the fine experience I have had with the Depot in my House Armed Services Committee work."

"Since August 1942 when the facility began operating to the present time, the Depot has been deeply involved in one of the most important but oftentimes poorly overlooked aspects of military operations—namely, supply and maintenance."

"Widespread publicity may not adequately convey the Depot's mission, however, it is obvious that no military operation could be conducted without supplies, material and equipment."

"The military, after all, is essentially people—individuals who rely on sound, well-functioning equipment to perform their roles."

"Granite City Army Depot has always responded and has completed an admirable record in meeting the needs of our men."

"Today, for instance, 70% of its current effort is in direct support of our combat forces in Southeast Asia in fields of supply in heavy construction equipment."

"It is evident the Depot is performing a vital mission in conjunction with our Southeast Asia operations. In fiscal year 1967, which ended this past June 30, the Depot shipped approximately 83,000 tons of supplies and equipment."

"The Depot's importance can be measured in another way, a way that is every bit as crucial as its military role: its impact on our area and its participation in community affairs."

"I am sure that I wish every military facility participated as actively and wholeheartedly as the Granite City Depot has in our community affairs."

"In the fields of equal em-

CONG. MELVIN PRICE

ployment, employment of the handicapped, youth employment opportunities and the war on poverty, Granite City Army Depot has stood the test well, and is counted on heavily to offer a helping hand."

Impact on Economy

"Its impact on the local economy is obvious. The Depot employs 1800 military and civilian personnel and has a payroll of $12.5 million annually."

"It expended over $2 million in fiscal year 1966 for contracts let and services performed by local industry and preliminary estimates for fiscal year 1967 indicate its contract activities will be even greater."

"I congratulate the Depot and its fine commander, Col. Hoskin, on the splendid work that has been and is being accomplished here. I look forward to continuing the fine relationship Granite City Army Depot enjoys with me and my colleagues on the Armed Services Committee."

Some Allergic to Clothing Dyes

If a friend literally offers you the shirt off his back, don't take it—you may be allergic to it.

Since man has worn clothing, he has been plagued with itching skin, rashes and other symptoms of sensitivity to clothing.

Reactions to such varied things as nylon stockings, bedsheet, dresses, leather gloves, fur collars, clothing stored in moth balls, watchbands and wedding rings have been reported.

Actually, the allergic reaction in most cases is not to the material of the clothing, but to the dye used to color it. The dye is released from the material through the body's moisture, heat and oil and enters the skin through the follicular glands.

When a material causes an itching rash, the condition is called contact dermatitis. Usually, the rash develops only in areas touched by the offender, but it can spread.

Symptoms of contact dermatitis include eruptions resembling blisters or dry and scaly sores, itching, redness and sometimes rashes are common on the feet, legs, toes, palms, fingers, chest, back, underarms, neck and arms, although almost any area of the body can be affected.

If you suspect you are allergic to clothes dyes, heed this advice: Don't try an ointment recommended by a friend. Your allergy may be entirely different from his and the ointment could harm your skin.

Don't rely on television commercials for prescribing treatment—even if you think it's "only" a skin condition.

Don't treat yourself. See a doctor. He can administer the right tests and prescribe proper treatment.

Don't even treat an itch yourself. Some remedies effective in stopping itching can damage skin, especially if the skin is exhibiting an allergic condition such as a rash.

If you suspect contact dermatitis, brief your doctor on any new clothes you've been wearing and bring the garment with you when you go for a test.

Hyperventilating Is No Cause for Panic

You've been anxious and tense all day. Suddenly, you experience a violent attack of giddiness. Your hands and feet tingle, fingers cramp up, and you feel like you're smothering.

Such terrifying symptoms would make anyone reach for the panic button. But, believe it or not, the victim would do better to reach for a paper bag and simply breathe into it a few times.

The paper bag treatment is the most effective way of combating a common problem called hyperventilation, which literally means "overbreathing."

Attacks of hyperventilation are frightening, but usually not serious. They occur most frequently in persons under a great deal of nervous tension who unconsciously breathe more deeply and more quickly than usual. In the process, the oxygen-carbon dioxide ratio of the body is disturbed—too much carbon dioxide is exhaled and too little is retained.

Result: a lower carbon dioxide level in the blood, producing a marked drop in blood pressure and reduced blood flow to the brain.

Breathing into the bag traps the exhaled carbon and soon the air inhaled from the bag contains more carbon dioxide than oxygen. With the oxygen-carbon dioxide balance of the body restored in this way, the terrifying symptoms of hyperventilation quickly disappear.

If you're an occasional victim of hyperventilation, your greatest enemy is panic. Fight it consciously slowing down your breathing rate, and breathing into the paper bag when necessary.

Frequent attacks of hyperventilation can signal a more serious underlying condition.

Appeal Ruling Hiking License Mailing Costs

Secretary of State Paul Powell announced today he is appealing a recent ruling by the post office department which would increase by $200,000 a biennial the cost of mailing motor vehicle license plates.

The post office has ruled that the registration identification card, which is inserted in a pocket on the front of the plate envelope, constitutes first-class mail, and that an additional five cents postage must be added to cover the first class mail item.

At present, the plates and cards are forwarded fourth class mail at a postage cost of 14 cents for each set of plates.

Under the new ruling, the cost per set of plates would increase to 19 cents, and there would be no improved mail service to motorists because the plates would still be treated as fourth class mail.

Secretary Powell pointed out that there has been no change in the manner of mailing plates in the last 12 years and added that, because of that fact, there has been no increase in cost to the post office for handling the plates.

"There appears to be no sound reason for a change in the policy at this time, and it is difficult for me to understand how this could effect the cost of the post office in handling license plates."

"In addition to the administrative burden that this will impose on the state, there is, of course, the principal and primary problem of having sufficient funds to assume this additional postal expenditure at a time when no funds are available."

He asked that the ruling be revised to permit continued mailing of plates at a total cost of 14 cents per set. His request was directed to Lawrence O'Brien, Postmaster General, in Washington, D. C.

Many Activities for Young, Old at Depot Tomorrow

Quad-City families and other area guests visiting the Granite City Army Depot tomorrow in observance of the installation's 25th anniversary celebration will have a variety of interesting experiences in store for them.

Young and old alike will discover a panorama of events, special exhibits, escorted tours via train and bus, award presentations, speeches and demonstrations by sky-diving "Golden Knights," the U. S. Army national champion parachute team, helicopters, small winged aircraft and the latest in jet fighter planes.

The final public display of the McDonnell-Douglas Co. "Geminis" capsule will contain a Nike ground-to-air missile; troop train kitchen car; laser and bridge launching equipment; and Telstar communication instruments.

Helmets for Riders
Helmeted youngsters may enjoy rides in Army jeeps and atop Depot fire engines.

Concession stands are expected to be well patronized, and personnel manning the centrally-located information booth near the Depot Headquarters expect to find their services in demand. Many Depot employees, granted special constructive time periods from their regular duties tomorrow afternoon to participate in the events, will help to swell the anticipated crowd of visitors, now estimated at several thousand.

Civilian and military personnel from related federal agencies and commands across the Mississippi River and at Scott Air Force Base and Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., will join residents of the two-state metropolitan area in honoring the Depot on its 25th birthday.

Quad-Cityans who have read Press-Record accounts of the Depot's "Black Widow" spiders and the intricate usage to which their skills are put may view the lethal insects at their tasks in one of the numerous exhibits on display Tuesday.

Strands from the spider web are utilized as crosshairs in surveying instruments, assembled at the local military base.

Chutists, Jet Planes
Parachutists from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., will make a "drop" at the Depot parade grounds between 2 and 3 p.m. Tuesday while smaller-type winged aircraft and helicopters, furnished by the U. S. Army Aviation Command, St. Louis, will offer a "fly-by" salute as part of the early afternoon events.

Twelve members of the Army's national champion "Golden Knights" parachute team will demonstrate their skills in a special "drop" at 3:45 p.m., followed with a fly-over by the latest jet fighter aircraft, piloted by Missouri Air National Guardsmen.

In addition to the general "open house" activities, formal events set for tomorrow include a full-dress parade through the Quad-Cities, starting at 11 a.m. at Second Street and Broadway in Venice; and an awards ceremony involving outstanding federal service employees and a parade review at 1:30 p.m.

Plaque, Flag Ceremonies
Other activities set for 1:30 p.m.

clude presentation and unveiling of a commemorative plaque by the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce; presentation and raising of a "minute man" flag, by Arnold Rauen, Illinois director U. At 4 p.m. Illinois Speaker of the House Ralph T. Smith of Alton will present the major address before a massed assembly of 400 military troops and visitors.

During the same segment, trophies will be awarded to parade floats judged most outstanding; best marching unit; and "green-up and beautification" winners in an on-post contest to beautify offices, officers' quarters and non-military housing areas.

Strongarming, Many Area Burglaries Among 29 Crimes

A strongarming in which a 58-year-old man lost $465 to his assailants and a series of burglaries in homes, taverns and businesses were among 29 crimes reported in the Quad-City area during the week ended Saturday.

Wille F. Mason, 58, of 1009(r) Market street, Venice, was beaten and robbed of $465 early Saturday morning by several men who attacked him as he left a Venice tavern and liquor store.

The robbery occurred between midnight and 1 a.m. Saturday but Mason, who was beaten about the head and neck, first went to his home and did not report the theft until about 10 p.m. Saturday.

Mason said he had completed the sale of some property Friday, and after paying some bills he left all of the money—about $480 with his wife. He said he went to a restaurant about 6 p.m., and then to Garretts Rate Liquor Store, 527 Weaver street.

He said that about 10 p.m. he decided to leave his money with one of the barmaids. He said he gave the girl $465 to put away for him. When he was ready to leave about midnight, Mason related, the barmaid returned the money to him.

Mason said he left the tavern and was walking south on Weaver when the men attacked him. They did not take his wallet or $2 which he had in another pocket, but took the $465 from his trouser pocket, Mason said.

Cash Register Stolen
Burglars broke into Davis' grocery store at 208 West Third street, West Madison, Thursday night or early Friday and took the cash register, $126 worth of relief orders and an undetermined quantity of food stamps.

The cash register, valued at $200, was recovered an hour and a half after the theft was reported at 7:05 a.m. Friday. Venice police found the register at the rear of 331 Weaver street. It contained about $5 in change.

Also taken was about $10 worth of bacon and about $4 worth of sausage.

About $419 was stolen in a burglary at the home of David Smith, 2960 Grand avenue, it was reported at 10 p.m. Sunday. Entry was gained by ripping a basement window screen and forcing the window. Bedrooms and the living room were ransacked.

Charged In Gun Case
Joseph Turner, 1018 Douglas street, Venice, reported to police early Friday that a .32-caliber revolver had been stolen from his home.

A short time later, police arrested Joe Rice, 39, who gave his address as 101 Webster street. Police said there is no such address. The gun was found in Rice's car, officers alleged.

Rice was arraigned before magistrate's court on a charge of unlawful use of a weapon. He pleaded innocent and was released on his own recognizance pending a hearing Aug. 9.

Theft of a tachometer from his auto while it was parked at 10th street and Grand avenue, Madison, was reported Friday morning by James O. Boswell, 2143 Washington avenue.

Madison police on patrol early Friday discovered a soda machine had been pulled over at the IGA Market, 1665 Market street. The machine had been tampered with, but the door to the coin mechanism still was intact.

Loots Cash Register
A patron in Voloski's 500 Club tavern in Madison walked behind the bar and took three $10 bills and two $5 bills from the cash register Thursday afternoon. He then left the place while the operator, Tony Voloski, was in a back room. The man drove away in a pickup truck.

Employees of the Leader department store, 19th and State streets, chased a shoplifter at 2:10 p.m. Friday and recovered a $40 suit and two $6 shirts.

The employees took the keys from an auto he tried to enter, and then saw him run north in an effort. The license of the car was 270.

Gun Stolen From Auto
A 38-caliber pistol was stolen from under a seat of the auto of Leonard Cronk, 471 Kirkpatrick Home, early Sunday while the car was parked at 20th and Park streets.

Computer Mill Break-In Starts Today at GC Steel

Granite City Steel Co. officials and teams of experts were at the plant last night to witness the start-up of the new horsepower computer-controlled hot strip mill.

The new mill is the final phase of a three-year modernization and expansion program started in 1965 at Granite City Steel plant.

Lyle F. Galley, executive vice-president, said today's start-up was not for production but to determine the operation of the new equipment. "We have a few bugs to iron out before we start actual production."

No date has been set for starting production in the 88-inch mill, which is along Madison avenue, extending from 16th to 18th street.

The new mill includes heating furnaces, rolling mill stands, coilers and auxiliary equipment.

On hand for this morning's break-in operation were representatives of the manufacturers—Mesta Machine Co. of Pittsburgh and General Electric Co., as well as the plant officials and newly-trained workers.

The first of the major new facilities—a continuous galvanizing line, went into production in the last week of 1966, and the new basic oxygen furnace steel-making plant went into operation early in June this year.

An iron ore mine and pellet plant under development at Pilot Knob, Mo., are expected to start production for the local plant in 1968.

The auto damaged the front porch of the Zerjil home and the front yards at the Zerjil residence and of Martha Adams, 1413 Madison avenue. Sutherland was charged with reckless driving.

Sutherland suffered abrasions was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was released. A passenger, Clara Sutherland, 22, of 2116 Delmar avenue, was treated for anxiety and was released.

They were passengers in an auto driven by Hattie B. Scoles, 720 West 28th street. Both bumped their noses and were released after treatment.

The Scoles' auto struck the rear of another driven by Joseph A. Nowicki, 40 Janney lane, who was waiting to make a left turn onto Leonard avenue. The third auto, driven by Anne Marie Parker, 1613 Courtney blvd., then struck the back of the Scoles auto. Mrs. Scoles said her brakes failed.

Two GC Youths Serving Aboard USS Forrestal

Two Granite City youths are serving aboard the fire-ravaged U. S. S. Forrestal which sailed out of Vietnamese waters for the Philippines yesterday with a possible death toll of 145, and at least 64 injured. Neither was listed today on available casualty lists.

They are Phillip M. Karandjeff, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Karandjeff, 241 Cleveland blvd., and Terry Valencia, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Valencia, 1833 Spruce street.

Karandjeff has been on the ill-fated carrier since May. Valencia has been aboard the ship for the past year.

Explosions and fire which broke out Saturday when an auxiliary fuel tank on an aircraft mounted on the catapult broke and burst into flames which engulfed other aircraft on the flight deck, had resulted today in 76 dead, 69 missing and 64 injured. Have No Word

Parents of the two Granite City youths known to have been aboard the ship said they have received no word of their sons, either directly from them or from Navy officials.

Mrs. Ruby Overbeck of the Tri-City Chapter, American Red Cross, said her office was contacted by both local families and that calls were made to Washington, D. C., for information. She was advised that the Navy Department is making direct personal contact with families of victims and that her office is to be advised if the local men were injured. No word had been received at noon today.

Flames from the broken fuel tank exploded on Sunday on aircraft that had been readied for an attack, blasting holes in the flight deck. Rescue workers continued last night to cut through twisted wreckage in a search for missing men. The fire, which was not brought under control until nine hours after it started, was described as the worst U. S. Naval disaster in a combat zone since world war II.

An official spokesman said today that 25 of the carrier's complement of 85 planes, including Phantom, Skyhawk and Intruder jets were destroyed. Another 31 were damaged. Aircraft losses alone were estimated at $70 million. The carrier is expected to be out of service for several months and possibly a year.

Six of the ship's ten decks were damaged, but the engine room main steering gear escaped damage.

Capt. John Beling has been quoted as saying that it was within the realm of possibility that the ship would be lost when the fire was at its peak and the 500 and 1000 bombs were exploding.

GC Sergeant Helping Protect Vietnamese Civilians from Grenades, Other Explosives

In Long Binh, two young Vietnamese boys are killed while playing with a hand grenade. . . . A Vietnam civilian loses both arms handing a "dud" grenade. . . . A soldier is killed trying to disassemble a 40-mm projectile. . . . These tragedies could have been avoided had the people involved been aware of the potential danger of explosives, "duds" or otherwise. The U. S. Army Third Ordinance Battalion's Explosive Ordnance Disposal Section (EOD), a First Logistics Command unit located in Long Binh 15 miles northwest of Saigon, is working hard to alert both military and civilian personnel to the hazards of explosives.

Training Essential According to the commanding officer of the Third Ordinance EOD team, U. S. Army Capt. Robert C. Gruber, Hershey, Pa., "Newly-arrived troops must become familiar with the types of explosives they may encounter in the field." "Our team, when a unit requests it, will conduct classes on identifying explosives. We will also give examples of explosive devices that may be uncovered during combat operations," he stressed. "We train men at platoon level to identify Viet Cong explosive devices, as well as our own. As a result, soldiers will know what they have found and how to report it," he added. The soldiers are cautioned of explosives.

never to handle undetonated devices. It takes an expert to safely disarm and dispose of today's powerful explosives and munitions. Effect of Weather "Some devices, especially those which have been exposed to the weather for any length of time, are extremely dangerous," commented Sfc. Richard G. LaBrocco—his wife, Irmgard, resides at 2707 Center street, Granite City—a member of the EOD team. "When we find an unstable device such as this, we detonate it in place," Sfc. LaBrocco added. Many incidents on the EOD team's records involve Vietnamese civilians, mostly children, who have been seriously injured or killed by hand grenades they have found and not recognized as deadly weapons. According to Capt. Gruber, the South Vietnamese government is strongly concerned and is conducting a program similar to that of the U. S. Army to alert the Vietnamese populace to the dangers of "dud" explosives. Stressing the importance of the Vietnamese program, Capt. Gruber said, "We want the Vietnamese people to recognize and report suspected explosive devices. If we can stress the importance of our program, the lives of innocent people can be saved."

Mountain Trip Can Cause Illness

Planning a trip to the mountains to get away from the heat for a week or so? So are several million other American families at this time of year. If you're headed for some really high mountains, above 7000 feet, it would be wise to make the change gradually if you wish to avoid "high altitude sickness." Anyone who has made a trip to Mexico City can tell you of his troubles in this respect. Try, if you can, to make the ascent over a span of days so that your body can adjust to the oxygen-poor "thin air" at higher elevations. Symptoms of high-altitude sickness are drowsiness; headache; blueness of the lips, nose and ears; a feeling of warmth and flushing of the face soon after arrival; troubled sleep; irritability, and shortness of breath. There are some precautions that may help prevent distress if you have to make a fast trip from a low level to high elevations. Before the trip, get a good night's rest and avoid alcoholic beverages and heavy smoking. A good breakfast an hour or so before departure is all right, but no food should be taken during the rest of the trip. Reduce physical activity dur-

Amvets Executive Meet Scheduled for Tuesday

Benjamin Sanders, first vice-commander of Amvets Post 51, has announced an executive board session will take place at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the post home, 5100 Lakeview drive. A "family day" pot luck luncheon is set for Saturday, Aug. 19, and a special "Amvets Day" free picnic on Sunday, Aug. 27. Several members attended a meeting of the Fifth Division Post in Harrisburg, Ill. The post has agreed to purchase overseas caps for unit members.

ing the trip. Sit quietly as much as possible. After arrival in the high altitude area, go to bed for a few hours and eat very lightly. Indulge in only light physical activity during the first 24 hours. Walk, don't run. If you have to climb steps to a hotel or lodge. Patients with certain heart and respiratory conditions may encounter more serious discomfort by abrupt changes to high altitudes. However, physicians have noted that most patients with cardiac or pulmonary disease who can move around and engage in moderate activity at sea level most often can tolerate altitudes of 7000 to 8000 feet without serious effects.

2 GC Men Cited for Aiding Communications in Flood

Two local men were among those contributing to linking military communications between St. Charles, Mo., and Scott Air Force Base, Ill., during the St. Charles June flood, a review of the project showed today. Members of the Military Affiliate Radio System (MARS), they kept contact with the Scott Base disaster control center requesting manpower and equipment assistance for the emergency. But the general results obtained from the rat experiments have not been confirmed in experiments on 20 young, adult humans, reports Ronald G. Smith of the Medical Research Laboratory at the Edgewood Arsenal in Maryland.

Moreover, the only meaningful differences in performance between groups of men receiving magnesium penicillin and those receiving an inactive compound showed that the penicillin-treated subjects did as well as well on tests as those who did not take the substance.

Doses of the chemical and tests used are not strictly comparable in the rat and human experiments, but it seems clear that magnesium penicillin does not facilitate learning, memory or performance in normal, adult humans.

Human Sonar

Some bats and porpoises navigate and find food through the use of echolocation, a sonar technique in which they systematically emit sounds and interpret the echoes from objects that reflect the sounds.

Under certain laboratory conditions, human beings can also detect the presence of targets in a similar manner, reports Charles E. Rice, a psychologist at the Stanford Research Institute, Menlo Park, Calif.

Blind and blindfolded human subjects tested by Rice made hisses or clicking sounds with the tongue (in some experiments and electronic clicker produced the sound) in the presence or absence of a target. The frequency of the sound was altered in front of the subject, and were asked whether or not the target was present.

Preliminary results indicate that both sighted and blind persons can use echoes not only to detect the presence or absence of targets, but also to tell the difference between simple shapes. And they can locate a target in space.

It is unlikely that the unaided human ear can rival the bat's or the porpoise's auditory system for echo perception.

But it may be possible to design mechanical or electronic devices that will bring echoes to man in a way that will permit him to sense and locate objects in his environment more efficiently than with the unaided sense organs.

Spreading of the Ocean Floor
Variations in intensity and polarity of the earth's magnetic field in the past 200 million years have been "fossilized" in the crust of ocean basins, says F. J. Vine, Princeton University geologist.

These variations apparently indicate the nature of oceanic fracture zones and serve to identify the part of the submarine ridges that are actively spreading apart.

The hypothesis that continents have drifted about since their formation is supported by the evidence on spreading of the ocean floor.

One mechanism suggested is slow convection in the upper mantle of the earth's crust, brought on by creep processes, with drift occurring above an upwelling, as continental fragments ride passively away from a "conveyor belt" of upper mantle material.

Dying Dipoles
In 1963, over 400 million tons of dipoles were put into orbit around the earth to test the use of these wires as a reflecting surface for worldwide military communications.

To prevent the wires from interfering with subsequent scientific operations, the dipoles were placed in such an orbit that the dipoles would fall to earth within the time of the pressure of sunlight and the influence of gravity.

Irwin I. Shapiro of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology reports that most of the wires have survived re-entry into the atmosphere and the pressure of earth's surface as expected.

Some dipole clusters did not separate as planned on achieving orbit, but it is expected that these will return to earth within the next two years.

Finding a dipole in the arctic regions is feasible, but expensive, says Shapiro, since calculated surface density is about five dipoles per square kilometer. No recovery attempts are planned.

Steps in Loss of Tibet Traced

U. S. Department of State
Could you please send me a list of the various institutions in the United States that teach the language of Thailand?

R. J. L.
Dear Mr. L.:
To the best of our knowledge, the Thai language is currently being taught at Cornell University, the University of Michigan, the University of Indiana, and UCLA.

We understand that it has also, on occasion, been taught at the University of Texas and the University of California at Berkeley.

What measures did the United States take to prevent the Chinese Communist takeover of Tibet in 1959?

Do you consider the present condition of Tibet to be a threat to the welfare and liberty of the United States?

N. B.
Dear Mr. B.:
On Oct. 7, 1950, without warning or provocation, Chinese Communist troops invaded the border areas between Tibet and China proper.

It was not until Nov. 12, 1950, however, after the entry of Chinese Communist troops into Korea became known, that the Secretary General of the United Nations received a cable from the Government of Tibet, advising him that the Chinese Communist invasion forces were advancing toward Tibet.

This invasion of Tibetan territory occurred while a Tibetan delegation was in India to discuss preliminary negotiations with the Chinese Communist ambassador to India regarding the relations between China and Tibet.

The Tibet Cabinet and National Assembly concluded its cable by entrusting "the problem of Tibet in this emergency to the ultimate decision of the United Nations."

On Nov. 24, the General Committee of the General Assembly unanimously voted to postpone consideration of the problem.

The Indian representative stated that his government was interested in promoting a friendly settlement of the issue.

He said such settlement could be promoted by deferring, for the present, consideration of the issue.

concurrent with the Indian view, Ambassador Gross, speaking for the United States, declared that he had voted for deferring the issue.

The United States would in any case have been in a position to use the inclusion of the vote in the General Assembly agenda, since we have always supported any proposal to refer the UN international disputes or conflicts of aggression, which could thus be aired, considered and settled at international level.

As to Tibet's present condition, the military bases which Peking has built up in Tibet were used against India in October 1962.

This situation, like all other situations around the world that have a potential for international conflict, will continue to concern the United States.

Furthermore, the sensibilities of the American people have been traditionally affected by the deprivation of any group's right as human beings.

Do you have an inquiry? Send it to "The Diplomatic Post," P.M.S. Room 4335, U. S. Department of State, Washington, D. C. 20520.

Dozen Ways to Kill an Organization

1. Don't go to any of the meetings of your group. With a negative attitude you will discourage anything to the meeting anyway.
2. If you do go, go late. Some people have an aversion to being on time. Why not join them?
3. They won't mind one more interruption. Be sure that if you are late, stagger your entrance with the others that are late so you can cause as many interruptions as possible.
4. If the weather doesn't suit you, don't even think of going.
5. If you do attend, be sure to find fault with the leaders with the least effort and the new members or encourage old ones

6. Get more as the devil if you are not appointed to a committee. If you are appointed, don't attend.
7. If asked to give an opinion on something, tell the chairman you have nothing to say, or claim you are already tired. Then, after the meeting is over, you can really read everybody off about how you feel.
8. Hold back your postage as long as possible. Or better still, don't patronize them at all.
9. If you should get a new member or encourage old ones

Depot Anniversary Arousing Interest

Here and Throughout the World
The eyes of the world are centered on the Granite City Army Depot on the occasion of its 25th anniversary tomorrow.

With so much of the local base's current supply and maintenance effort devoted to support our troops in Vietnam, it is interesting that the anniversary also is being noted in that country. The 593rd General Support Group transferred to Qui Nhon, Vietnam, last fall has chosen tomorrow to rename its 1st Logistics Command after headquarters Camp Granite in honor of the local Depot and community.

The public has been invited to tour the Army installation and witness the anniversary ceremonies there Tuesday. Much of the interest, however, and a large attendance will help indicate Quad-Cities' high regard for the Depot as an employer, neighbor, friend and vital cog in the Army Materiel Command and America's defense structure.

1968 Election 'Hot Stove Leagues'

Discussions Already in Progress
Hope springs eternal, and the political pot hardly simmers down from one election before aspirants bring it to a boil once again.

Current developments include talk of accelerated efforts to achieve a resurgence of the Republican party in Madison county after more than two decades of Democratic dominance; the county Democratic central committee's endorsement of State Sen. Paul Simon for the statewide nomination to oppose U. S. Sen. Edward Brooke; and the swift emergence of Illinois House Speaker Ralph T. Smith as the possible Republican nominee for governor.

Added to these have been the subsequent dampening of Smith's prospects by the apparent State GOP preference for a fully open primary, aiding two wealthier Republican gubernatorial candidates in LaSalle and Cook county; appointment of U. S. Sen. Edward Brooke to head the U. S. commission to study big city unrest, putting the Democrat in a position to earn national acclaim and

Eliminate Attractive Nuisances to Save Lives, Avoid Being Sued

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Association)

Tragedies similar to those which have recently taken the lives of several children in Illinois can be avoided if people will rid their properties of so-called "attractive nuisances."

The term "attractive nuisances," although not a legal term, is commonly used to describe those objects or conditions which by their nature are attractive to children and which should be recognized as dangerous to them.

Unsafe swimming pools and duck ponds, idle machinery, piles of lumber, open construction sites and construction equipment, vacant buildings and unused or abandoned refrigerators fall into the category of "attractive nuisances," along with many other hazards to children.

An owner, lessee or manager who permits such an object or condition to exist on his property, and who knows or should know that children are likely to be injured as a consequence, even though the children may come onto the property without his knowledge or consent.

Illinois law specifically forbids such action. Penalties for violating this law are in place across the state.

Right now, Control Data is selling around $100 a share, while its earnings are only about $1 per share. On the other hand, Sperry Rand is selling at around $80 and has earnings of $1.75 per share. Thus it seems that Sperry Rand is the better buy.

Both companies have had problems in the recent past, but both seem to have overcome these and appear headed for better days.

It would appear that the people who are buying Control Data are basing their decisions more on the property value than on the earnings. While Sperry Rand buyers are basing their price more on present earnings.

A number of security analysts, however, expect both companies to improve earnings by about the same amount in the coming year.

perhaps improving his chances of winning a third term, and the decision by Cong. Finley to lead a drive to obtain the presidential nomination for U. S. Senator Charles Percy, Illinois Republican.

What will happen in 1968 requires a clearer crystal ball than we have at the moment. But Illinois seems certain to be in the spotlight in many ways, and the pre-election speculation will provide plenty of "hot stove league" fodder for discussion this fall and winter.

Obligation to Base City Governmental Decisions on Best Possible Information

The misunderstanding of new Illinois tax legislation on which the Granite City council sales tax action was based is, to a degree, understandable. The batch of state bills is large and complex each biennium, and their details and ramifications often are not immediately available.

But the error that was used to sway some aldermen's thinking and voting—the contention that the sales tax would climb five percent regardless of whether the city increased its portion of the tax—does point up the fact that council oratory too frequently strays beyond acceptable limits.

To make a point, some aldermen are willing to interpret a set of facts in a way that leads to an improbable conclusion; to quote unnamed legal advisors to aid or cast doubt upon a particular piece of legislation; or to attack a proposal by irrelevant and inappropriate character assassination.

Fortunately, such legislators and debaters are in the minority. Hopefully, that minority will shrink. The business of government is an intricate task to carry out even with the best possible information on which to base decisions.

The Doctor Shortage

(Lynn, Mo., Unaffiliated Democrat)
There has been a crying need for the construction of more medical schools and the training and graduation of more doctors for years.

For a long time the American Medical Association denied there was a shortage of doctors but recently the AMA has acknowledged the growing need.

The AMA's board of trustees recently came out strongly for a program to provide additional doctors. The board reported the shortage as reaching "alarming proportions" and called for more medical schools and the acceptance of more students for medical training.

The United States has fewer than 300,000 doctors of medicine and osteopathy—an estimated 50,000 short of national needs.

Something like general agreement has now been reached on the nation's need for more physicians.

There certainly is a need for a greater number of medical schools, and also for increased enrollment at existing schools. There are now only 88 medical schools in the nation, with a capability to train only about half the 20,000 annual applicants.

Today some 1500 foreign doctors move to the U. S. each year, primarily because of the shortage. Many of these doctors are trained in medical schools that are turned away. The influx of foreign doctors represents about 20% of the annual supply of new doctors in the United States.

We should be able to do better for the people who want to study medicine and the people who need more doctors.

Attractive nuisances should be removed or if that is not possible, fenced, doors and windows of vacant buildings should be locked and other preventative measures taken whenever appropriate.

It also is wise to carry insurance against possible damage claims. Homeowners' insurance policies usually provide protection covering injuries occurring on one's property, and similar protection is available to landlords and tenants.

new capital investments made by the corporation each year, so you can tell if the firm is building new plants and adding to its equipment, or just piling up money.

To the Editor:
We are all shocked and dismayed at the turmoil and rebellion which is ripping our nation cities apart one by one.

However, I am equally dismayed at the seeming lack of integrity and second hand loyalty displayed by community leaders where rioting has occurred, on at least two counts.

First of all, I refer to the extreme lack of foresight before the outbreak of violence, in terms of what could happen in "their" second hand, after the outbreak of violence, I refer to the real lack of honesty and logic in assessing what has happened and why.

First it is said "it couldn't happen in my town" and then, the next day, the town is a rebel from the outside caused

Computer—the Engine of the 1980s

By James H. Binger
Chairman of Honeywell, Inc.

The computer will become by 1980 what the engine, and all that it implies, is today.

It will become the Engine of the Eighties.

The primary product, which you will see, is the computer. It will be the economic force—the power plant of productivity. And it will be the propellant of the profound changes that contemplative men sense are soon to come.

The computer demands our greater interest and concern. In the press of daily activities, we get so immersed in the past, so busy with the present, and so concerned about the future problems of our own businesses that we often don't take time to look beyond and isolate the truly momentous trends taking shape.

I suggest that the computer is one of those trends, and it will demand from all of us more than casual or superficial interest. Whether we sense it or not, right now, the computer will play as significant a role in our individual lives as the engine in its many guises has played in the past.

The computer will help open as many new business opportunities as it will close old ones. It will be the engine of the future, and it will be the engine of the present.

The questions of "What new opportunities?" and "What obsolete businesses?" are questions that directly affect you and me.

If the computer does indeed become the Engine of the Eighties, it will require good mechanics, good drivers and careful use. It will need visionaries who are capable of applying it wisely to real problems. Unless business leaders start now to get involved, they will be abdicating their role of influencing, shaping and guiding the direction that these powerful new tools might take.

Summertime Internal Revenue Topics

(Internal Revenue Service)

Q—My son graduated from high school in June and has started work. If he stays home with us can we still claim him as a dependent?

A—Generally, you may not claim as a dependent anyone who earns $600 or more during the year. However, the earnings test does not apply to your child if he is under 19 years of age or is a full-time student during any part of five calendar months of the year.

Q—You must, of course, meet the other dependency tests. This includes the requirement that you provide more than half his total support for the entire year.

Q—If I take a course in shorthand at my boss' want to, will that be deductible? He hasn't said he would pay for it.

A—If your employer expressly requires you to take the course to retain your present position, the cost is deductible. If it is necessary to improve or maintain the skills needed for your job, the cost would still be deductible.

Q—If I take a course in bookkeeping, laboratory fees and tuition fees are covered if the course qualifies.

Q—We had to sacrifice some of our furniture for practical reasons when we moved. Can we deduct this loss?

A—No. The law does not allow losses on sale of personal property to be deductible.

Q—I've got asthma and the doctor says I should get a new air conditioner for my house. Can I deduct the cost as a medical expense?

A—The IRS considers a "reasonable expense" for medical treatment of a specific condition.

Q—If I have a "tax break" when I reach 65?

A—Yes, there are several provisions which could reduce your Federal tax liability. You are entitled to an additional $600 exemption if you are 65 and your income is $3,000 or less.

Q—Will I get any "tax breaks" when I reach 65?

condition or illness and the air conditioning is installed primarily for this reason, it is an allowable expense.

However, only the excess of the cost over the increase in value of your house resulting from the installation of air conditioning is an allowable expense.

To avoid any question about this, you may want to get a statement from your doctor explaining why he recommends air conditioning for you.

Q—I'm a student and am banking my summer earnings. This bank wants my tax account number. What is that?

A—This is your Social Security number.

Q—If I require financial institutions to act as the depository for my number and to use it when reporting to IRS the interest payments on all savings accounts earning $10 or more during the year, can I deduct the cost?

Q—Will I get any "tax breaks" when I reach 65?

Yates-Shelton Nuptials At 2nd Baptist Church

Miss Paula Diane Shelton became the bride of Rollin Hunt Yates in an evening ceremony Saturday at Second Baptist Church.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie P. Shelton, 148 Big Four Place. Mr. Yates' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Yates, 404 Maryville road.

Rev. W. L. Showers performed the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and pom poms, greenery and a lighted candles in branched can delabras. White satin bows marked the pews and the candles were entwined with greenery and white ribbon.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. The bodice featured a scalloped neckline adorned with sequins, a fitted waist and traditional sleeves. The straight silhouette skirt was edged with scalloped lace and trimmed with sequins.

A detachable Watteau train secured at the shoulders repeated the sequin trim, and a forward flower headpiece with pearl accents secured a double cloud veil of pure silk illusion. Stephanotis and white cymbidium orchids were combined in the bride's bouquet, which was centered with a corsage.

Mrs. Betty Grote was the organist and Robert Boger, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly," "Whither Thou Goest" and the Lord's Prayer.

A maid of honor, Miss Shirley Mefford, and two bridesmaids, Miss Susan Yates, a sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Janice Cholewick, preceded the bride and her father down the aisle. They were dressed alike in long gowns of powder blue organza over taffeta. Designed on Empire lines, the dresses had bodices with scoop necks, full three-quarter sleeves and accents of deeper blue bands at the midriff. The skirts were straight.

Flower headpieces secured short veils, and the attendants carried colonial bouquets of light blue pom poms and yellow roses.

A flower girl, Julie Moutell, wore a dress of white lace over blue taffeta, the skirt extended with a hoop. A large blue bow held in place a full-length train. Lilies of the valley were in her hair and she carried a basket of blue pom poms.

Jeffrey Boyer, a cousin of the bride, and Margaret Yates, the bridegroom's sister, lighted the candles.

Barry Gauen was best man and groomsmen and ushers included Richard Wagner, Dan Tankersley, David Johns, another cousin of the bride, Michael Friederich, David Purkale and Gary Wigger.

A reception was held at the church immediately following the ceremony.

The bride and groom are graduates of the Granite City schools. The former Miss Shelton holds a secretarial position at the Granite City Army Depot. Mr. Yates is employed at the Kroger Store here.

The rehearsal dinner was given Friday evening by the bridegroom's parents. Among out-of-town relatives attending the wedding were Theodore Johannpeter of El Cajon, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Crispin and children, John Diana and Cheryl, of Terre Haute, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hunt, Cuba, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ward and daughter, Linda, of Energy, Ill.

POTILLOS HOME AFTER WEDDING IN CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Potillo and children, Sandra, Mark, Beth and Kirk, 2445 Illinois avenue, returned this weekend from an extensive four-week tour of the southwest.

On the way west, they visited Denver, Colorado Springs, the Rocky Mountains, Salt Lake City, Utah, Nevada, San Francisco and Los Angeles. They spent eight days in Sun-nyvale, Calif. with a son Kent, and while there attended the wedding of Kent and Miss Bonnie Jan Muller at the Methodist Community Church of Los Altos. Miss Sandra Potillo participated in the wedding as a bridesmaid. In the Los Angeles area, they visited a brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Potillo and son, Melvin Jr., of Alhambra and a niece and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kloster of Monterey Park. The return trip included tours of the Yosemite National Park, Sequoia National Park, Grand Canyon, Petrified Forest and Painted Desert.

Mary Lou Hubert Bride Of Vincent Kwiatkowski

Bouquets of white summer flowers decorated the altar of Sacred Heart Catholic Church Saturday morning for the wedding of Miss Mary Lou Hubert and Vincent S. Kwiatkowski.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hubert Jr., 2458 Center street. Mr. Kwiatkowski's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kwiatkowski, 2410 Jerden avenue.

The ceremony was performed at 10 o'clock by Rev. Joseph Enright and a reception was held at the YMCA.

A gown of rayon organza was worn by the bride. Made on Empire lines, it was designed with cape sleeves and a chapel train. Alencon lace trimmed the gown, and a double crown held in place a veil of silk illusion.

The bride carried a crescent arrangement of daisies and white roses. Mrs. Gerald Foley, the bride's cousin, was matron of honor and Miss Mary Ann Brunch and Miss Marilyn Clanton served as bridesmaids.

They were dressed alike in linen gowns made on Empire lines. The bodices were moss green and the floor-length beige skirts had green panels attached at the waistlines in the back.

Yellow daisies and beige bows were in their hair and they carried nosegays of yellow and white daisies.

Mr. Kwiatkowski was attended by Michael Wertha as best man right and a reception was held at the YMCA.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hubert wore a blue linen dress, while the bridegroom's mother was in green and white.

Both had white gamelia corsages. After a honeymoon in the Mis-souri Ozarks, the newlyweds will live in Granite City.

Both young people attended Southern Illinois University's southwestern campus after graduating from the local schools. Mr. Kwiatkowski is employed by the Nestle Co.

Sherfy-Bryant Wedding Solemnized on Saturday

St. John The Baptist Catholic Church in St. Louis was the scene of the wedding Saturday morning of Miss Carolyn Katherine Bryant, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bryant, 3940 Schiller place, St. Louis, and Charles W. Sherfy, whose parents are Mrs. Jennie Sherfy and Charles Sherfy of Venice.

The Rev. John Flemming officiated at the 11 o'clock Nuptial Mass. The wedding breakfast and reception were held at the Polish Hall in Madison.

The bride wore a gown of white peau de soie and Chantilly lace. It featured a portrait neckline, long traditional sleeves, deep tiers of lace and a full train. The neck was trimmed with pearls and sequins.

A veil of silk illusion was secured with a crown of pearls and rhinestones, and the bridal bouquet was made up of white carnations.

Miss Charlotte Sherfy, the bridegroom's sister, maid of honor, and Miss Diana Bryant, a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Roy Hughes, bridesmaids, wore gowns of pink chiffon. Floor-length, they were made with Empire bodices and A-line skirts.

Pink petals held in place short circular veils and they carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

A flower girl, Virginia Bryant, sister of the bride, was dressed in pink satin and lace with a flowered bow in her hair. She carried a miniature bouquet of pink carnations. Kenneth Sherfy, the bridegroom's brother, carried the rings.

William C. Bryant Jr. was a best man, serving with Robert Sherfy, the bridegroom's brother and Michael and David Bryant, groomsmen and ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bryant chose a blue jersey dress and beige accessories, while the bridegroom's mother wore a white and black striped dress and red accessories. Both wore white orchids.

After a wedding trip to California, the couple will live in Madison.

The former Miss Bryant, an employee of a St. Louis bank, is a graduate of Cleveland high school. Mr. Sherfy attended the Venice schools. He too is employed in St. Louis.

Vases of white flowers decorated the altar of the church and the bridegroom's mother was the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES W. SHERFY. Their wedding took place Saturday morning at St. John The Baptist Catholic Church in St. Louis. The bride is the former Carolyn Katherine Bryant, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bryant of St. Louis.

Peace Corps

Almost the entire coastline is blanketed with pure white sand.
Because of the beaches, tourism is a major industry in Barbados.

After the Rural Route One resident arrived there with 33 other peace Corps representatives, she soon received her first taste of teaching.

She was assigned to a high school in the small city of St. John's in her first year, and to a high school in Bridgetown,
the capital of the island, in her
second year.

Of the original PC group of 33,
28 stayed the full two years.

English, Business Courses

Miss Lavele taught English,
though the British accent and education at both schools. She lived close to the schools both
years and was involved in protective work for several hundred years.

"I was lucky to be sent to a place where the people all spoke English. That made it far easier for me to get along well with
them."

The students were far more kind and reserved than American children. They were very well behaved and seemed quite British.

Sacred Heart Pen Pals

When she was teaching in Bridgetown, she organized "pen
pals" exchange between her students and the students at Sacred Heart grade school in Granite
City.

The students wrote each other
often and enjoyed the exchange
immensely, but their inability to communicate in English often proved unappreciably funny at
times, she said.

Appearance of the Granite City
was no more successful in conveying the idea of huge steel works and heavy industry than the Barbadians were in getting
across the idea of coral reefs
and sugar cane.

The middle-class life is growing, a multiplicity of class
distinctions still divides the people
of Barbados, she commented.

"One of the hardest parts of my experience was learning how to function on all levels of the society."

"In this regard, all of us in the Peace Corps at Barbados
learned to appreciate the differences between the two cultures
and natives with a valuable view
of American life."

Against the rich vacationing
life they had been in contact with, we had the opportunity to give them their first
look at a hard-working
American," she said.

Busy Schedule

Another problem she encountered was the limitation of time. She regretted that she was too busy
to do all the things she wanted to do.

This is how she described a
"typical day" in Barbados:

"I would get up about 6:30,
cook my breakfast and do my
washing-by hand outside.

"After about an hour, some of the neighborhood children would come by and we would go and
round up the others who had to go to school."

"I would teach from 9 a.m.
until 3 p.m. and after that I would either go to a meeting of the neighborhood debating society
or teach choir."

"Later, I might have a speech
to give at a young people's meeting or go out to work with the
neighborhood children."

"After dinner, well... there were no television sets in the house. Sometimes I taught modern dance and sometimes I went to the movies. There were always a lot of parties in Barbados."

Mixed Emotions

The Granite Cityan had mixed emotions about coming home. She hated to leave Barbados, but I really wanted to come back. It has taken some adjustment. I still marvel at all the cars and the tremendous variety of the supermarkets here," she said.

Several large stores were built here while she was out of the U.S.

Future plans include returning to the West Indies to Jamaica as a school teacher.

About the Peace Corps, she has no doubts at all.

"I think it's a tremendously rewarding experience. I cannot young people enough to go into it."

Peace Corps

Almost the entire coastline is
blanketed with pure white sand.
Because of the beaches, tourism is a major industry in Barbados.

After the Rural Route One resident arrived there with 33 other
peace Corps representatives, she soon received her first taste of
teaching.

She was assigned to a high school in the small city of St. John's in her first year, and
to a high school in Bridgetown,
the capital of the island, in her
second year.

Of the original PC group of 33,
28 stayed the full two years.

English, Business Courses

Miss Lavele taught English,
though the British accent and
education at both schools. She lived close to the schools both
years and was involved in protective work for several hundred years.

"I was lucky to be sent to a
place where the people all spoke English. That made it far easier
for me to get along well with
them."

The students were far more
kind and reserved than American children. They were very well
behaved and seemed quite British.

Sacred Heart Pen Pals

When she was teaching in Bridgetown, she organized "pen
pals" exchange between her students and the students at Sacred Heart grade school in Granite
City.

The students wrote each other
often and enjoyed the exchange
immensely, but their inability to communicate in English often
proved unappreciably funny at
times, she said.

Appearance of the Granite City
was no more successful in conveying the idea of huge steel
works and heavy industry than
the Barbadians were in getting
across the idea of coral reefs
and sugar cane.

The middle-class life is growing, a multiplicity of class
distinctions still divides the people
of Barbados, she commented.

"One of the hardest parts of
my experience was learning how
to function on all levels of the
society."

"In this regard, all of us in the Peace Corps at Barbados
learned to appreciate the differences between the two cultures
and natives with a valuable view
of American life."

Against the rich vacationing
life they had been in contact
with, we had the opportunity
to give them their first
look at a hard-working
American," she said.

Busy Schedule

Another problem she encountered
was the limitation of time. She
regretted that she was too busy
to do all the things she
wanted to do.

This is how she described a
"typical day" in Barbados:

"I would get up about 6:30,
cook my breakfast and do my
washing-by hand outside.

"After about an hour, some of
the neighborhood children would
come by and we would go and
round up the others who had to
go to school."

"I would teach from 9 a.m.
until 3 p.m. and after that I
would either go to a meeting of
the neighborhood debating society
or teach choir."

"Later, I might have a speech
to give at a young people's meeting or go out to work with the
neighborhood children."

"After dinner, well... there
were no television sets in the house. Sometimes I taught modern dance and sometimes I went to the movies. There were always
a lot of parties in Barbados."

Ribbon Cutting Ceremony at Tea Tuesday at Depot

Dedication of a new entertaining area in the Granite City Army Depot officers' club building will highlight a ladies' tea at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Charles E. Hoskin III, wife of the Depot commanding officer, will preside at ribbon-cutting ceremonies. More than 120 guests are expected to attend the event.

Arranged as part of the Depot's silver anniversary celebration, the dedication will formally open the semi-private dining and entertaining facility—designated as LaGranada Room—to public inspection.

Mediterranean Decor

The 24x27½-foot area is decorated in a Mediterranean theme, with furnishings in a complementary motif.

A large illuminated wall mural, depicting a pastoral scene in medieval Italy and focussing on ruins of a bygone era, is framed with a facade archway. The overall decor gives the diner an illusion of distance and an effect of gazing across a pleasant Roman countryside from a balcony.

Translucent stained glass windows in Mediterranean green, flanked with heavy apricot draperies, and wall-to-wall carpeting in a shade and design to match the windows add to the quietly luxurious atmosphere.

The walls are painted in a shade of jasmine (green-yellow), while a textured off-white wall emphasizes the mural background.

Double swinging doors of antique woodwork provide access to the area from the club ballroom, and a second door affords an outside exit to a red-bricked patio.

Indirect lighting is achieved from artistically mounted wall fixtures, and a suspended paneled ceiling also has been installed.

Funds, Work Contributed

Originally a seldom-used games room, the room has been renovated in a project jointly sponsored by the Officers and Civilian Wives Club and members of the Officers' Open Mess. Funds were contributed by both organizations for the extensive remodeling.

Military officers at the Depot donated off-duty hours to clean and paint the room, and club members joined in a contest to provide a name for the new area. Capt. David C. Davies, post judge advocate, was declared the winner for his suggestion, "La Granada."

Described by one officer as "elaborate, tasteful, different and effective," the area will afford members of the club's staff side a private room for bridge luncheons and teas.

Staff officers and key civilian personnel also are expected to utilize the facility when entertaining distinguished visitors to the local Army installation.

and children, Scotty and Ellen. The conference, sponsored by the National Girl Scout organization and hosted by the Hoosier Girl Scout Council, will be focused on "inner city" scouting. The girls will be working to develop skills in leadership, understanding and human relations.

The day-long adventure, attended by over 50 boys and girls, was organized to aid in developing these skills and to provide an interest in scouting and neighborhood development for the "adventurers."

The group, with the aid of Seneca Girl Scouts Carolyn Votaw of Granite City and Becky Parada of East St. Louis and several Boy Scouts, improved the appearance of a neighborhood playground and spent the remainder of the day with games, singing, a tug-of-war and a barbecue lunch.

Later in August, the National Conference team will organize and direct several other "adventurer" days in Illinois cities.
